Contents

Printing Privileges and the Regulation of Knowledge in Early Modern Europe: Questions and Approaches 11
Marius Buning, Alberto J. Campillo Pardo, and Andrea Ottone
Structure of the Volume 16
Cited Sources 20
Secondary Sources 20

1. Beyond Expression: The Subject Matter of Early Modern Printing Privileges. 23
Marius Buning
Form and Function 26
Methods and Utility 36
Conclusion 42
Cited Sources 44
Archival References 44
Legal References 44
Secondary Sources 44

2. The Typography of the University of Cervera and Its Printing Privilege (1718–1816) 49
Natàlia Vilà-Urriza
Introduction 49
Institutional Printing Privileges in Spain 50
Characteristics of the Privilege of the University of Cervera 54
The Printing Press of the University of Cervera and the Exploitation of the Privilege 56
The Legislative Transformations of the Second Half of the Eighteenth Century 60
The End of Printing Privileges. 63
Conclusions 65
Cited Sources 66
Archival References 66
Early Printed Sources 67
Secondary Sources 67

3. The Danger of 'History': Two Legal Cases. 69
Laura Incollingo
Introduction 69
Parrino's Teatro Eroico 71
A Bureaucratic Complexity 74
Roselli's Istoria Universale 76
Conclusions 80
Cited Sources 83
Archival References 83
Early Printed Sources 83
Secondary Sources 83

4. Privilege and Conflict over Liturgical Books in the Eighteenth-Century Spanish Viceroyalty of New Granada 85
Alberto J. Campillo Pardo
Introduction 85
Printing Privileges: A Brief Context 86
The 'Nuevo Rezado': A Printing Privilege over Liturgical Books in Spain. 87
The Visitation of Ahumada's House 89
Research of the Notary of the Holy Crusade's Tribunal 92
The Concept of the Commissary General of the Tribunal of the Holy Crusade 93
Jurisprudential Compilation of Cases from the Tribunal of the Holy Crusade in Santafé 97
The Orders of the Tribunal of the Holy Crusade of Santafé. 100
The Letter of the Subdelegated Commissary of the Crusade Court of Santafé. 101
Reflections on the Circulation of Liturgical Books in the Spanish Monarchy 103
Cited Sources 104
Archival References 104
Secondary Sources 104

5. Papal Privilege and Jurisdictional Controversies: The Case of Leonardo Parasole's Pontificale Romanum (1595–1596). 107
Andrea Ottone
Introduction 107
Three Bibliographic Ghosts 108
Cheap Tricks. 113
New Kids on the Block 118
The Cost of the Pontificale Romanum 124

Epilogue 131
Cited Sources 135
Archival References 135
Digital Repositories 135
Early Printed Sources 136
Secondary Sources 139

6. Useful Books and Evil Rubbish: Media Politics in Early Modern Denmark–Norway 143
Jonas Thorup Thomsen
Introduction 143
Protecting the Realm from Evil Books 145
Promoting Useful Books and Domestic Printing 149
Media Politics in Effect: Clerical Book Collections in Denmark–Norway 154
Conclusion 161
Cited Sources 162
Archival References 162
Digital Repositories 162
Early Printed Sources 163
Secondary Sources 163

7. Andrea de Portonariis and the Printing Privileges (Castile, Sixteenth Century) 167
Natalia Maillard Álvarez
Introduction 167
The Printing Privileges in Castile 168
Andrea de Portonariis and the Book Business in Castile 172
Andrea de Portonariis and the Printing Privileges 176
Conclusions 182
Cited Sources 182
Archival References 182
Digital Repositories 183
Secondary Sources 183

8. Privilege, Piracy, and Periodicals: Reprinting Newspapers in the Seventeenth Century 187
Arthur der Weduwen
Introduction 187
Copying Brands: Germany and Italy 190

State Licensing and Sanctioned Reprints: France, Sweden, and the Baltic 193
Local Pride and Local Tensions: The Low Countries 196
Conclusion 200
Cited Sources 202
Digital Repositories 202
Secondary Sources 202

9. Contested Control: Printing Privileges and Political Competition in the Holy Roman Empire, 1700–1750 205
Mona Garloff
Introduction 205
Granting Printing Privileges in the Holy Roman Empire 208
Privileges as Regulatory Instruments of the Book Trade in the Early Eighteenth Century 210
Textual Alteration and Confessional Adaptations as a Transregional Reprinting Strategy 213
Conclusion 217
Cited Sources 218
Archival References 218
Early Printed Sources 219
Secondary Sources 219

10. 'It Appears Clearly and Like the Sun in Full Noon': Printing Privileges and Revised Editions in Geneva and the Holy Roman Empire in the Second Half of the Seventeenth Century 225
Zachary Brookman
Introduction 225
The Case 228
The Arguments 232
The Verdict 240
Conclusion 245
Cited Sources 246
Archival References 246
Digital Repositories 246
Early Printed Sources 246
Secondary Sources 247

11. Michel Le Noir: Piracy and Privilege in the Parisian Book Trade (ca. 1480–1520) 249
Florine Lévecque-Stankiewicz
Introduction 249
Life and Works of Michel Le Noir 250
Michel Le Noir and the French Book Privilege System 254
Interpreting the Data 263
Conclusion 265
Cited Sources 266
Digital Repositories 266
Secondary Sources 266

12. From Manuscript Culture to the Printing Age: The Issue of Authorship and Royal Privileges for Printing Books in Renaissance Castille (1502–1558) 269
Rafael M. Pérez García
The Emergence of Book Printing Privileges in the Crown of Castile during the Transition to the Printing Age 269
Authors, Printing Privileges, and the Struggle for Control over Texts 271
The Notion of Authorship in Printing Privileges 273
Conclusions 283
Cited Sources 285
Archival References 285
Digital Repositories 285
Early Printed Sources 286
Secondary Sources 286

13. Music, Word, or Both? The Early Years of Elizabethan Printing Privilege and the Politics of an Emergent Confessional Identity 289
Elisabeth Natour
Introduction 289
English Reformation(s) 291
Patents, Privileges, and the Control of the Printing Press in the First Decade of Elizabethan Rule 293
Religious Music in Print 299
Conclusion 308
Cited Sources 308

Digital Repositories 308
Early Printed Sources 308
Secondary Sources 309

14. 'Infinite Scandalous Things': Female Printers Navigating Privileges, Inheritance, and the Politics of Knowledge in Early Modern Europe 315
Elise Watson
Introduction 315
'Defended herself against those Bullets shot in the Dark': Agnes Campbell, Edinburgh 318
'Burdened by these great expenses': Anne Bonjean, Paris 321
'Renowned wherever books can be found': Susanna Veseler, Amsterdam 324
'Her base Execrations': Gender, Privileges, and Knowledge Circulation 327
Cited Sources 330
Digital Repositories 330
Early Printed Sources 330
Secondary Sources 330

Authors 333